

Radnor Township

With the support of the Radnor Township Board of Trustees, the township has started the process for creating their first Comprehensive Plan for Radnor Township.

The inclusion and voice from township residents will serve as a vital role in determining how Radnor Township will be zoned, develop and make connections to surrounding municipalities. Those connections could be from future roadways, trails, paths and waterways.

The Planning Process

The Delaware County Regional Planning Commission has begun working with Radnor Township on creating their first Comprehensive Plan. DCRPC and the Steering Committee will meet monthly for approximately 8 months to discuss resident survey results, the walk audit process, comprehensive plan chapters and more. Example comprehensive plans for local townships and villages can be found on the RPC website.

Once a Comprehensive Plan has been adopted, the township intends on adopting and enforcing their own zoning code. Radnor Township zoning has historically been administered by Delaware County, with any variance, conditional use and appeal cases heard by the County’s Board of Zoning Appeals.

More information will be provided as this project advances.

We hope to see you at a future meeting!
